

Call centre opened for Christie Mountain Wildfire related questions

(Penticton, BC – August 20, 2020) – In an effort to share accurate and timely information related to the Christie Mountain Wildfire, the City of Penticton has activated a call centre through the Emergency Operations Centre.

“As the situation continues to be fluid and can change rapidly, residents with questions about the impact of the wildfire in Penticton can reach out to the call centre for help,” said Penticton’s Communication Manger, Philip Cooper.

Residents affected by the Evacuation Alert are asked to stay calm and prepare to leave their homes, if required. An Evacuation Alert is intended to allow people time to prepare their identification documents, medications, change of clothes and make plans with family members so they can depart their homes quickly and safely.

Due to the evolving nature of the wildfire situation, the call centre hours may fluctuate outside regular business hours.
