

Spring 2022 Recreation Guide ready to kick off warm weather season

(Penticton, BC – March 9, 2022) – With blue skies, longer days and warmer weather on the horizon, the City of Penticton is ready to release the Spring 2022 Recreation Guide.

“After a long and cold winter, we are excited to offer a variety of programming in this Recreation Guide to help kick off the spring season,” said Manager of Recreation, Arts & Culture, Kelsey Johnson. “This guide reflects program availability at the time of its design. Additional programs and services will be made available and posted online, so we encourage residents to check regularly for new offerings.”

The Spring 2022 Recreation Guide includes programming options such as Spartan Jr. and Parkour for tots and youth respectively, as well as a variety of yoga options and pickleball programs for adults. Parents looking to plan ahead to summer can check out the summer day camp options in this guide along with early registration dates.

“Our summer day camps are one of our most popular offerings and we know parents like to plan ahead, so moving the registration earlier in the season was an easy decision.”

The Recreation Guide is available online as of March 9 (penticton.ca/recguide). Registration for programs open March 16 for residents and March 17 for non-residents and can be done online through the City’s website (penticton.ca/register).
